FRANK JACKSON'S EVIDENCE

U. S. Compares Plans for Mexican Intervention

WARBOOTS AGAINST ALIENS

Navy and Army Held in Readiness to Check Expected Trouble at Sunday's Election.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—Fearing anti-foreign outbreaks during the Mexican election scheduled for Sunday, the Administration to-day completed its preparations for armed intervention in Mexico should this become necessary. Both the army and the navy are in such form that they can be moved instantly and with the least possible loss of efficiency.

In addition to the three dreadnoughts now anchored off Vera Cruz with their big guns trained on the city, the European cruise of the Atlantic, which is scheduled to begin Saturday, has given the Government an excuse to call and fully provision nine of the largest ships of the navy. The Wyoming, Utah, Florida, Arkansas, Delaware, Connecticut, Vermont, Kansas and Ohio will steam out of Hampton Roads Saturday morning.

Big Ships in Call.
The big ships will not proceed to full speed, but will cruise leisurely outward, so as to be within easy wireless communication with Washington three days after sailing. It is anticipated that the anti-foreign outbreaks, if they occur, will take place either Sunday or Monday, and it would be the work of less than an hour to change the route of the fleet and send all nine fighting ships southward to the Gulf, where, with the assistance of the torpedo division, now quartered at Hampton Roads and Charleston, S. C., they could land men on the east coast of Mexico.

In addition to these nine vessels, the Navy Department holds the Virginia, New Jersey, Rhode Island and Nebraska ready at Norfolk for their Mexican cruise, which will begin October 25. The dreadnoughts are coaled and provisioned now, however, and can move instantly if necessary. This division of the fleet is intended to relieve the Louisiana, Michigan and New Hampshire, which have been "requested" by President Huerta to leave. In event of trouble, however, this trio of battleships would remain in Mexican waters and land men and sailors to protect American property.

Army Ready, Too.
The preparations of the army for intervention are no less complete than those of the navy. To "relieve" the Second and Fifth Regiments of cavalry, which have been stationed on the border for several years, General Wood has ordered the Tenth and Fifteenth cavalry to the border. No date has been set for the transfer, but both the Tenth and Fifteenth have received orders to remain in marching trim.

In addition to this, the Government has 5,000 troops at Texas City, Texas, within a few miles of the border, armed and ready to move. The arrival of the two additional regiments of cavalry would give the Administration close to 12,000 troops of all kinds along the border, and it is claimed that this force will be hurled across the Rio Grande at the first sign of trouble or danger to foreigners.

3000 COAL MINERS WILL STRIKE STILL HELD COTTON WORKERS

Cotton Workers Accept Old Jobs and Promise of Better Working Conditions.

More than 3000 striking men and women employees of the Pulton Bag and Cotton Mills voted to go back to work at a mass meeting at the Atlanta Temple of Labor Thursday morning. The strikers marched from the mill village to the labor building on Trinity avenue in a body. They declared that only about half their number were present, but that all would stand by the action of the meeting.

P. W. Flynn, chairman of the meeting, who was named chairman of a committee to inform Oscar Elzas, president of the Pulton Bag and Cotton Mills, of the desire of the dissatisfied employees to go back to work, explained the action of the meeting.

"Mr. Elzas has informed us that he was ignorant of the cause of some of our grievances, but that if we will go back to work conditions will be improved," he said.

"We have not been holding out for the reinstatement of Fowler, the discharged weaver. The fact that he was discharged precipitated the strike, but the real cause was deeper. It was against generally bad conditions."

"Mr. Elzas is willing to right out wrongs and we will all go back to work Friday morning."

Police on Guard Thursday

Oscar Elzas, president of the mill, said Thursday morning that all the strikers would be given back their jobs. He said the mill had offered them no concessions from the conditions reigning at the time they walked out.

"They walked out of the mill over protest," he said. "We didn't put them out, and we haven't kept them out. I haven't conferred with representatives of the strikers since Tuesday. But they can all go back to work."

Special police officers were all on guard around the mill Thursday, despite the fact that the threats of hundreds of other employees to join the strikers and the muttering of some of the very radical agitators that violence was likely had changed to talk of peace. Mr. Elzas said that the many women who had gone out stayed out purely from fear. They had been told that if they started back to work they would be gone bodily from the mill.

TESTIMONY OF FRANK JACKSON

The character of Leo M. Frank, a burning issue during his trial for the murder of Mary Phagan, again was the subject of animated argument at the hearing on a new trial Thursday in the library of the State Capitol. Almost the entire forenoon was given over to a fight by Frank's attorneys to establish as reasons for a new trial the admission by Judge Roan of all the mass of evidence which sought to prove Frank a pervert and a degenerate of the worst type.

Throughout the hearing, the lawyers for Frank made ground after ground for a new trial upon the attacks that had been made by the Solicitor upon Frank's character. It was apparent that the convicted man's lawyers were confident that the court had been led into an error by admitting testimony of this sort.

Every question asked by the Solicitor during the trial which sought to elicit answers derogatory to Frank's character and moral conduct entered into the numerous reasons for a new trial.

The admission of all the testimony bearing on Frank's alleged attitude toward women and his reported acts of perversion, particularly as testified to by Conley, the alleged bias of the jury, and the admissions in the courtroom are the three grounds for a new trial on which the defense will place the greatest stress in their arguments, according to all indications during the first two days of the hearing.

The testimony of Miss Irene Jackson, the pretty daughter of County Pullman Jackson, formed the basis of a heated argument at the outset of the hearing between Solicitor Dorsey and A. K. Stephens on one side and Benham Arnold and Herbert Haas on the other, the attorneys for the defense coming off victorious.

Attack On Frank's Testimony

Miss Jackson's testimony was taken up in the forty-third round. The court was declared in error because Miss Jackson had been permitted to tell of alleged particular acts of immorality on the part of Frank which had nothing to do with the crime of murder.

HOWARD INSISTS ON CONGRESS PROBE

FORCE ACTION ON CHARGES

Congressman Asserts Truth of Accusations Against U. S.
Warden Must Come Out.

Declaring that should the Department of Justice refuse to act on the charges of unfit conditions at the Federal prison, made by Julian Howard, a member of the National Congress, Congressman William Schley Howard in a statement Thursday reiterated his intention to force a full investigation.

Mr. Howard stated that he would introduce a resolution into Congress upon his return to Washington asking the appointment of a Congressional committee to carry on this investigation. He avowed that this was demanded in justification to humanity, if the charges proved true, and for the exoneration of Warden Meyer, if the accusations are untrue.

Senator Hoke Smith, who made a tour of inspection of the prison Wednesday, refused to make a statement Thursday. He stated that he had formed no opinion so far which he would make public on the sensational allegations, and would not say what his action would be when he returned to Washington.

Mr. Howard's statement follows:

Charges Serious.

"Reputable people have made charges as to the conduct of the Federal prison. These charges in character are serious. Mismanagement of the prisoners is alleged in that they are not sufficiently fed and their physical condition is being impaired by the lack of nutritious food and proper medical attention.

"The Department of Justice, through the press, has stated that these statements made by persons who have no knowledge of the conditions at the prison—that they are false in their entirety.

"Fully realizing that incarceration of those who violate the law is absolutely necessary for the safety of society and the detriment of crime, and that those who fall into the folds of the law should not have furnished them the comforts of life while serving their sentences, and that punishment in some form or other is necessary for the maintenance of discipline in this prison, I have refrained from giving to the public who are interested from a standpoint of humanity to these prisoners my views of the present conditions.

"Congress is entitled to the whole truth about the administration of affairs in this institution. If the Department of Justice does not make a full, free and impartial investigation I shall introduce a resolution upon my return to Washington, asking for the appointment of a Congressional committee to visit this prison and ascertain the whole truth. If these men are unfeared Congress should know it; if the statements made in the local press are untrue, the public should know it in justice to the warden and other officials in charge.

"If conditions are brought about by insufficient appropriations for subsistence the sooner it is known the better it will be for the men confined. If discipline is lacking the cause for its existence should be determined and speedily corrected, if the most drastic methods have to be resorted to.

"So far as I am concerned, this is all I have to say until I speak with the authority of Congress behind me and those with whom I shall be associated."

COTTON CROP ENRICHING ATLANTA

Bankers Say High Price of Fine
Staple Is Responsible for Money Influx.

Conservative bankers declared Thursday that bank deposits at present in Atlanta break all records. They estimated that the day's deposits exceeded all previous records by more than $6,000,000.

With the movement of cotton well under way, indications are that even these figures will be beaten before the end of the week. To-day's record is the second that has been set this week.

Last Monday bank clearings reached the highest mark in the city's history for one day.

The unprecedented deposits taken by the bankers as an indication of the wave of prosperity sweeping Georgia on the heels of a good cotton crop, are putting more money in circulation as the movement of the crop is carried on.

The bank clearings of Atlanta financial institutions have been setting new marks in the last few weeks. On Monday the clearings reached a high water mark of $437,000, a gain of more than $200,000 over the clearings of Saturday, which were $438,000 and a record up to that time.

Stanley McPherson, an authority on bank statistics, declared Thursday that $6,000,000 above the record in bank deposits was not an exaggerated estimate.

Georgia's banner cotton crop is bringing a record price and is moving so rapidly that refrigerator cars are actually being pressed into service for the handling of it.

From all over Georgia came glowing reports. In the belief that cotton is going to soar upward to a much higher price, many of the country merchants and farmers are holding to their cotton.

This augurs well for financial conditions, in the opinion of many bankers, as it means a continual and heavy flow of money into Georgia for months to come.

Drops Case When Father of Accused Proves Old Friend

From prosecutor, Mrs. W. O. Ballard, No. 406 South Pryor street, was transformed to defender in the Recorder's Court Thursday when she caused S. A. Allen, No. 121 Crew street, an inmate, to be arraigned for kicking her pet fox terrier "Tiny."

"Tiny" was kicked into unconsciousness Wednesday by Allen at Mrs. Ballard's home, where the lawman called. Allen was arrested by Policeman John West.

When the case was called Thursday J. R. Allen, a grizzled Confederate veteran and for years custodian of the State Capitol, appeared with his son. Mrs. Ballard recognized the aged man as an old friend. Forthwith she asked that the case against the son be dismissed.

CRUSHING ASSAULT ON CONDUCT OF TRIAL IS MADE IN FRANK'S FIGHT

Reserving until the last their most crushing assault upon the manner in which the Frank trial was conducted and upon the alleged bias of the jurors that tried the accused man, the lawyers for the defense went into the hearing for retrial Thursday afternoon armed with affidavits swearing that Juror A. H. Henslee was in Albany, Ga., on the date he has declared he was not there, and when he is said to have uttered his opinion of Frank's guilt before the trial.

Henslee met the charge that he had expressed in Albany his belief that Frank killed Mary Phagan by the declaration that he was not in that city at the time the utterances were alleged to have been made.

Attorney Rosser announced Thursday afternoon that he would submit to Judge Roan incontrovertible proof that Henslee's name was on the register at a hotel in Albany and under a date corresponding to the time in question.

As another proof that the juror was misrepresenting the facts of the case, the lawyer promised also to submit affidavits from three persons who had sworn that they saw Henslee in Albany at this time.

The forenoon session was practically divided between a determined and uniformly successful struggle by the defense to incorporate the admission of every fragment of character testimony against Frank as a reason upon which to argue for a new trial, and a squabble over the testimony of E. H. Pickett, who declared that Minola McKnight had told him that her salary in the Frank home was raised immediately after the crime, that she was given a new hat by Mrs. Frank, and that she was instructed by Mrs. Emil Selig, Mrs. Frank's mother, to say nothing to anyone about the murder.

A long debate also arose over the contention of the defense that the juror erred in letting in the testimony of Harlan Branch, a newspaper man, who made an estimate of the time that it required Jim Conley to re-construct in the factory the part he asserted he had in the Phagan tragedy.

The objection to this testimony was on the ground that it was a pure conclusion; that it was impossible to take a witness to the factory and long if required for him to do one thing or another, that Branch did not pretend to have timed the performance, and that his testimony would not have been admissible even if he had; that Conley's performance at the factory was not the same as he described it on the stand at the trial; that the negro described it entirely differently on the stand, at least, differently in many particulars, that it could not help the jury for Conley to illustrate his last affidavit; when he said on the stand that much of it was a lie and did not happen at all, and that this evidence was of another transaction and not binding on the defendant. The reason was approved by Judge Roan.

Attorney Rosser and Arnold maintained that Pickett's testimony should be allowed to stand as a reason to be argued for a new trial, in that it was palpably immaterial evidence employed to impeach the testimony of the McKnight woman. This ground was approved after slight revision by Judge Roan.

Corsey and Judge Clark.

Grand Jury Finds 19 True Bills, One 'No' Bill, in Hour

The Fulton County Grand Jury returned nineteen true bills and one "no" bill in a record-breaking session lasting a little more than an hour Thursday morning.

The most important indictment returned was that of W. M. Heard, of Jacksonville, Fla., charged with snatching a purse containing $14 from Mrs. E. D. Griffin on the night of October 13.

Heard told a pathetic story of a wife and starving babies when he was arraigned before Recorder Broyles about a week ago. He was bound over to the Grand Jury under $1,000 bond, which he failed to make.

N. A. Garner, assistant to Mr. Dorsey, had charge of the proceedings Thursday.

FISHER INDICTED IN DALTON AS SLAYER

DALTON, Oct. 22.—Ira Fisher, the man who produced the latest sensation in the Frank case, was today indicted for murder by the Grand Jury in session here.

The bill of indictment charges him with killing his brother-in-law, Doug Steele.

Steele was found dead beside the Southern Railway tracks near the southern limits of Dalton about five years ago. It appeared that a train had passed over him, for his head was cut off and the body mangled, but lying to an absence of blood it was thought he had been killed and placed by the truck to hide the crime.

This caused the Coroner's jury to prolong the investigation for several days. A verdict that Steele was killed by a train was finally returned because of inability to find any evidence pointing to anyone as his slayer.

One Grand Jury investigated the death, but took no action. The affair was then forgotten until the present Grand Jury, besieged by rumors that Steele was murdered, reopened the investigation and got enough evidence to warrant the indictment of Fisher.

Her father followed her a moment later, half strangled by the smoke.

Behind Mr. Cason and the little girl Mrs. Cason struggled bravely, carrying her 2-month-old baby, Richard, whom she snatched from his cradle when she was awakened by the smell of smoke and the glare of the flames. Mrs. Cason's dress was scorched, and both she and the baby were half strangled by the dense smoke.

COURT RECESSED TO ALLOW ANGER TO ATTORNEY DECLARES

Attorney Luther Z. Rosser made the positive declaration at the hearing on a new trial for Leo M. Frank Thursday afternoon that if the defendant had been in the courtroom at the time the verdict was rendered he almost certainly would have suffered violence at the hands of the huge crowd outside, especially in the event that an acquittal had been brought in.

"Why, that howling mob of 5,000 would have eaten him alive, if he had gone out among them," shouted Rosser. "He would have been sent to heaven."

Rosser's remarks were made during a discussion of the hostile sentiment toward the prisoner, in which it was developed that Frank's presence at the rendering of the verdict was waived at the suggestion of Judge Roon himself, because the judge was impressed with the possibility of violence and thought it advisable to take every precautionary measure.

The expected attack upon A. H. Henslee and Marcellus Johnson, jurors of the Frank trial, was launched by the attorneys for Frank Thursday afternoon.

The jurors were charged with having expressed before the trial the opinion that Frank was guilty, and it was represented that Frank, therefore, was unable to get a fair and impartial trial.

A score of affidavits were attached as exhibits to bear out the contention of bias. Several of them were submitted to show that Juror Henslee was in Albany, Ga., on a date he specifically had denied being there. It was at Albany that Henslee is alleged to have made denunciatory remarks against Frank.

Attorney Rosser announced Thursday afternoon that he would submit to Judge Roon incontrovertible proof that Henslee's name was on the register at a hotel in Albany and under a date corresponding to the time in question.

As another proof that the juror was misrepresenting the facts of the case, the lawyer promised also to submit affidavits from three persons who had sworn that they saw Henslee in Albany at this time.

The forenoon session was practically divided between a determined and uniformly successful struggle by the defense to incorporate the admission of every fragment of character testimony against Frank as a reason upon which to argue for a new trial, and a resolute effort by the prosecution to prevent the admission of such testimony.

A long debate also arose over the contention of the defense that the judge erred in letting in the testimony of Harlow Branch, a newspaper man, who made an estimate of the time that it required Jim Conley to re-enter in the factory the part he asserted he had in the Phagan tragedy.

The objection to testimony was on the ground that it was a pure conclusion; that it was impossible to take a witness to the factory and have him indicate accurately how long it required for him to do one thing or another; that Branch did not pretend to have timed the performance, and that his testimony would not have been admissible even if he had; that Conley's performance at the factory was not the same as he described it on the stand at the trial; that the negro described it entirely

ALONE ENOUGH, IS DEFENSE OF FRANK

In the trial, Solicitor Dorsey took sharp and indignant issue with Judge Roan, asserting that it was not in the province of the judge to give his opinion as to whether it was possible for the jury to have heard the demonstration.

"I can give my opinion if I wish," retorted the judge. The matter was compromised by the qualification that this possibility was "contested."

Indignations Thursday were the review of the 115 reasons would hardly be completed by night. It is unlikely that the arguments will begin before Friday noon. They will require at least one day.

The character of Frank, a burning issue during his trial for the murder of Mary Phagan, again was the subject of animated argument. Although the entire forenoon was given over to a fight by Frank's attorneys to establish as reasons for a new trial the admission by Judge Roan of all the mass of evidence which sought to prove Frank a pervert and a degenerate of the worst type.

Throughout the hearing the lawyers for Frank made ground for the ground for a new trial upon the attacks that had been made by the Solicitor upon Frank's character. It was apparent that the convicted man's lawyers were confident that the court had been led into error by admitting testimony of this sort.

Each Question Asked. Every question asked by the Solicitor during the trial which sought to elicit answers derogatory to Frank's character and moral conduct entered into the numerous reasons for a new trial.

The admission of all the testimony bearing on Frank's alleged attitude toward women and his reported acts of perversion, particularly as testified to by Conley, the alleged lover of the defendant, and the demonstrations in the courtroom as the three witnesses of a new trial on which the defense will place its argument, according to all indications during the first two days of the hearing.

The testimony of Miss Irene Jackson, the pretty daughter of County Policeman Jackson, formed the basis of a heated argument on the subject of the hearing between Solicitor Dorsey and A. E. Stephens on one side and Reuben Arnold and Herbert Roan on the other, the attorneys for the defense coming off victorious.

Laurel Roan, chief of counsel for Frank, was not present when the argument resumed in the little courtroom of the library in the State Library.

Attack Girls' Testimony. Miss Jackson's testimony was taken up in the forty-third reason. The court was declared in error because Miss Jackson had been permitted to tell of alleged perverted acts of immorality on the part of Frank, and had nothing to do with the crime of murder.

Dorsey maintained that absolutely no objection had been made at the time. Arnold and Roan replied that a blanket or omnibus objection had been made when Ashley Jones was on the stand from whom the facts of this defense of this class should be regarded as objectionable.

Defense Wins Again. Judge Roan decided in favor of Arnold and Roan, remarking that the testimony on the part of the ladies' dressing room was in the fourth floor, seemed to be covered by the objection to the cross-examination of Jones, and also on the direct examination of C. H. Dalton, one of the State's witnesses.

The forty-fourth reason contended that the court erred in letting in the questions of the Solicitor when Miss Lela McDonald was on the stand. Miss McDonald was asked if she was aware that Frank had been a pervert, a young girl whom he sought to persuade to have sex with him.

The witness denied that she knew of any such circumstances, but Frank's lawyers contended that the questions, regardless of the answers given, tended to place in the minds of the jurors an unfavorable conception of the defendant's character, a circumstance which was prejudicial to his case. The defense was approved by Judge Roan.

Boy's Story Called Vain. The forty-seventh ground, based on the testimony of Willie Turner, who was approved as a basis of the defense, turned out to be a failure. Turner testified that he saw Frank talking with Mary Phagan some weeks before the murder and the defense objected on the ground that the Solicitor unfairly was seeking to build up in the minds of the jurors the conviction that Frank for some time previous to the perverted acts was making persistent efforts to become intimate with the girl, a suggestion which was unjust in view of the meager evidence.

The forty-eighth reason was withdrawn. Attorney Arnold had been withdrawn. He had testified that he saw Daley Higgins one Saturday, and that she told him she was on her way to the pencil factory where she had an engagement with the "boss."

The Higgins woman was a witness during the trial, and her character and reputation were vigorously assailed by the State.

Before the hearing was well under way Attorney Roan announced that there were a number of affidavits that he had not yet obtained, but which he wished to introduce as soon as they were signed. He remarked that Solicitor Dorsey had made the exchange of affidavits so late that he had no opportunity to get four or five counter-affidavits which he knew were available.

With the review of the defense's attitude for a new trial more than a dozen reasons that the right on the issue of the perverted acts was the "why" of the trial. The trial, to support perverted acts of the defendant, was the

FIGHTING TO UPHOLD FRANK CASE VERDICT

Dorsey Full of Fight. Solicitor Dorsey went into the hearing Thursday prepared to fight every inch of the way against the accusations of bias and prejudice. He was fortified with affidavits from Hendes and Johnsen testifying to their own list of bias when the trial started and with affidavits from other members of the jury who swore that during the 25 days of the trial they never heard Hendes or Johnsen utter a word that indicated their opinions were for or against the defendant.

The discussion was given over to Reuben Arnold made the startling charge just before the close of the first day's session that it was the charge, not the judge and jury, who ran the Frank trial.

The discussion was on reason 13, which narrated that during Attorney Arnold's examination of the jury, witnesses the spectators laughed in derision and he failed to elicit the answers desired.

"It seemed as though I was the comedian of the trial," observed Arnold. "I never knew I was so funny until that trial took place. Nearly every time I jumped up there was a hostile guffaw somewhere back in the audience."

The defense, in outlining its reason, held that the judge should have declared the court or taken other radical steps to put a stop to the demonstrations. "There is clearing the courtroom were not sufficient as the ensuing disturbances, handclapping and other demonstrations evidenced."

Solicitor Dorsey, objecting to this reason, said he did not practically every one that was offered, insisted that the dispute between lawyer and witness which was taking place at the time was not a matter of law, but as to show the real cause of the mercurial.

"That's all right, let it go in," acquiesced Arnold. "I just wanted to show that it was the spectators who were running the court and not the judge and jury."

The transcript of testimony at this point was entered in the reason in accordance with the wishes of the Solicitor.

Judge Roan hurried the lawyers along in the afternoon session and more than twice as many of the reasons were taken up and on as in the forenoon. The majority of the reasons, most of them with slight revisions insisted upon by the Solicitor, were dismissed from consideration.

Others were taken up and on as in the forenoon. The majority of the reasons, most of them with slight revisions insisted upon by the Solicitor, were dismissed from consideration.

Judge Tells of Applause. One of the most significant events of the hearing came in the certification by Judge Roan of the description of the applause in the courtroom when it was announced that the testimony of Conley in regard to alleged acts of immorality on the part of Frank was not to be admitted. Judge Roan testified that it was his recollection that there was cheering and stamping of feet and that there were in a courtroom which could have been heard by the jurors who were in an adjacent room.

This certification on the part of the judge is regarded as highly favorable to the defense for a new trial. Even when a new trial is denied by Judge Roan, the Supreme Court will be compelled to go behind the statement of the judge and determine whether or not the possibility of the jury being biased is a matter of law, merely a contention of the defense, as supported by the court's certification.

Fisher Protests His Story Is True. Detectives were puzzled Thursday over the persistence with which Leo W. Fisher, the man of mystery in the Phagan murder case, who is his original story involving another man in the slaying of Mary Phagan and declaring Leo M. Frank is innocent. The man is an enigma, which detectives are anxiously seeking to solve, not because of any importance they attach to his remarkable testimony but in an effort to ascertain the real motive that prompted him to jump into the Frank case in such a sensational manner.

Despite the severe grillings he has undergone already, Fisher has not shown the slightest signs of weakening, and Thursday morning reiterated his story with the same show of confidence that marked his first trial.

AMATEUR ACTORS WANTED. One of the most interesting features of the trial is the fact that a number of the professionals are going to be given an opportunity of the Columbia Burlesque Theater, and have a chance to land a substantial cash prize at the same time.

No class of amateurs will be excluded—singers, comedians, Shakespearean aspirants, dramatic comedians, in fact, any and every kind of an act that wants to try out will be given a fair chance to win out with the audience.

From the number who have already entered it is judged that the Friday night will be one big night for the amateurs.

The management has arranged for the 8 o'clock performance, and it is expected that the crowd will be there. Contestants are requested to register $1.00 and be on hand at the stage door promptly at 7 o'clock Friday evening.

WILBURN TAKEN TO GRAYS TO FACE JURY

GRAYS, Oct. 23.—Nick Wilburn is on trial for his life here today in the Jones County Superior Court for the murder of James King, his former employer and the husband of the woman with whom he was infatuated.

From her cell in the county jail, which is connected with the courthouse by a "bridge of signs," Mrs. King, who is nervously awaiting her trial, can look into the courtroom, even obtaining a glimpse of her other.

Take Wilburn in Auto. Apprehensive lest the strong feeling which was so manifest at the time of the killing had not subsided, Sheriff Roberts took extra precaution in bringing Wilburn from Macon to Grays. Wilburn was handcuffed and seated in an automobile between the Sheriff and Detective Moore, who ferreted out the crime and obtained a confession from the prisoner.

Expected all of this, the jury party left Macon at 7:30 o'clock and reached Grays just a few minutes before court opened and just as the train from Macon arrived. The crowd was expecting Wilburn on the train, and there were few at the courthouse to observe the prisoner as he was taken out of the auto and into the courtroom.

Sheriff Roberts will not allow Wilburn and Mrs. King to see each other. He has arranged a cell for Wilburn on the ground floor, immediately under the cell occupied by Mrs. King. The two prisoners have no means of communication.

Although extra deputies were sworn in to assist the Sheriff in event of trouble, the immense crowd which gathered from all parts of Jones County, was exceedingly quiet. There was no evidence of feeling against the prisoner. Attorney John R. Cooper insisted, however, that he be granted an audience, and will declare that Wilburn should have been granted a change of venue.

When questioned on this point Thursday, however, Fisher denied any motive of that kind. He said he was held at police headquarters on several serious charges in connection with his story. Graham declared his investigation had not been completed.

Hampton Springs, Fla.—"I had had eczema on my face and hands for about three years. My face was badly disfigured. The eczema broke out in pimples and looked so very ugly. I would scratch it all the time. It was the most irritating disease I have ever had. It started on my face and hands and I spread all over my body. I had great large sores all over my chest, back and arms. I could not sleep at night so that I could not rest at all."

I used three remedies for skin disease and they didn't give me relief at all. I was almost tormented until a friend recommended Cuticura Soap and Ointment to me. They helped me from the time I started to use them. I used the Cuticura Soap and warm water as a wash and then put the Cuticura Ointment on the sore places. I only used two boxes of Cuticura Soap and two boxes of Cuticura Ointment and was cured."

No class of amateurs will be excluded—singers, comedians, Shakespearean aspirants, dramatic comedians, in fact, any and every kind of an act that wants to try out will be given a fair chance to win out with the audience.

PAGE'S 'THE SOUTHERNER' IS BITTERLY RECALLED

MOULTREE, Oct. 22.—The nine-annual convention of the Georgia Division, Daughters of the Confederacy, was started today by a quarterly statement read by the State president, Mrs. Walter D. Lamar, of Macon, a book written by Walter H. Page, himself a Southerner, and a report of the Court of the South, under appointment of President Woodrow Wilson, a native of the South.

Following the reading of the statement by Mrs. Lamar, a preliminary session was held to prevent discussion of the matter on the floor. There was a debate that lasted more than an hour, but the matter was submitted to a committee which will report tomorrow, when it is expected a lively session will ensue.

Mrs. Lamar's criticism, it was said, was in part as follows:

In a book called "The Southerner" Walter H. Page, now Ambassador at the Court of St. James, exploits opinions concerning the South and her people that would blast his high hopes and blight his future before any self-respecting people.

He is a Southern man, educated at Harvard, and under his alias of Nicholas Worth, he reveals his own people, advocates integration, and attacks the glorious life of those great Christian gentlemen, Lee and Jackson, just as Daughters of the Confederacy and Confederate Veterans, declare that there was no intellectual assault among the women of the South, that the condition of affairs in Virginia, when he returned after the deposition of the great Lee, was "brilliant."

False to His Own People.

In a private letter to a distinguished Southern woman, who wrote him respectfully concerning this book, he replied that the attacks on his book are made only by opponents of the Confederacy; that his story was fiction only, and that the sixteen copies issued are now in his possession and the book plates destroyed.

The misfortune of a man false to his own people, representing America at a great court, was addressed in the United States by Hon. A. O. Bacon, who reported that the book had been given to him before the appointment was made.

The unfortunate copy given to the English, had been frequently stressed by papers that are the friends of the Administration, notably, The Macon News, which has been in the United States in the campaign for nomination and has done him violent service daily.

That Mr. Page is "only fiction" does not help matters.

Was ever more harm done by any book than by Herbert Hoover's "Uncle Tom's Cabin," and was there ever launched upon the world more absolute fiction? Perhaps, the subtle hand of the timid, often accomplishes what bold strokes can not. Therefore, I earnestly recommend that the division instruct their president to offer condemnatory resolutions at the general convention, and I trust that similar resolutions represented here will receive their unanimous approval.

Lunches for visitors.

The morning session today was devoted to reports of the various divisions at the general convention, and the afternoon session was devoted to the convention at the Commercial Hotel, U. S. C.

DoBose Declares He Will Expose Crookedness if Fees Drag Him Into Police Row.

JACKSONVILLE, Oct. 22.—Alger DoBose, of the Second Ward, following the postponement of the hearing of Captain Harry Hall, before the Mayor, threatened to expose the alleged "blackbird ring" if any member of the so-called "ring" attempts to injure him personally by continuing in the case.

Determined efforts are said to have been made by friends of William H. Bostwick Jr., former chairman of the Board of Board Trustees, to secure the support of DuBose last Saturday night in the election of two trustees to fill the vacancies caused by the retirement of Bostwick and Henry Hall. DuBose, however, voted with the Bostwick faction.

"It appears that some of the supporters of William Bostwick Jr. are trying to make a game of the attempt to induce me to support the Bostwick faction," declared DuBose. "I am not going to stand for it and will not be marked for any of their work. I have done nothing that would warrant such a charge."

Hall will give a hearing Thursday afternoon on the charge of neglecting his duties as chairman of the Board of Board Trustees, and Detective H. F. Hogan to shadow the Mayor, he has received information that Councilman John B. Cavalieri Diverted Connaught Romance Makes Wife Hurry To Divorce Court

Special Cable to The Atlanta Georgian. PARIS, Oct. 22.—Prince Arthur of Connaught enjoys his present marital happiness through Lady Cavendish indirectly.

Prince Arthur was in love with Lady Marjorie Blannerhagan, who since she married the Marquis of Anglesey, had Lady Marjorie's mother, the Duchess of Rutland, rather unconventionally gave a tea party in honor of Cavendish.

Queen Mother Alexandra used this incident to convince King George and the Duke of Connaught that Prince Arthur had better marry his first woman, the Duchess of Rutland.

The Railroad Commission has granted, which makes them the same as four class rates on the railroad.

The commission also changed the proposed rates to other points along the line, but in doing this it adjusted the proposed rates.

As usually granted, the rate adjusted as follows: From Atlanta to Macon, 10 cents; to Rockford, 10 cents; to Charleston, 10 cents; to Mount Zion, 20 cents, and to Stone Mountain, 20 cents.

The petition to fix commutation rates was dismissed, the commission noting that it had no authority to fix rates other than to say that the maximum rate shall be no less than the maximum rate named by the commission may be adjusted at the road's discretion.

The commission also declined to permit the rate to charge fares without providing for other baggage accommodation in addition. Baggage in addition to passenger service will be permitted a reasonable extent, but the baggage will pass free and not be charged for.

The petition originally filed by the power company was bitterly fought by the residents along the line and the result is highly gratifying to them. The order filed will be accepted by the company without protest.

The commission calls upon the power company for a detailed statement of the cost of the line and its operation. It also authorizes the company to request the question of rates after six months operation of the new line in order that judgment, if found to exist, may be reached.

EX-JUDGE S. R. ATKINSON PRAISES JUDICIAL SYSTEM JUDICIAL SYSTEM EDITORIAL

In response to the editorial in Wednesday's Georgian, "The Jury System of Georgia on Trial," former Supreme Court Justice Spencer R. Atkinson has written the following letter.

Following is Judge Atkinson's letter:

Editor Georgian:

I have read with great interest the editorial in your issue of yesterday, dated "The Jury System of Georgia on Trial." To your masterly presentation of the occasion and reasons for your editorial invitation, I am indebted. I am glad to see that your readers are so strong in their opinion of the jury system, and I am glad to see that your readers are so strong in their opinion of the jury system.

System is Simple.

It is not presumptuous to enter upon the discussion of the jury system as it is to one of its integrity is called in question. I will, however, as an interested reader of your editorial, and in your indulgence and ask the privilege of submitting some observations upon the general subject, and the system which you invite discussion.

It is submitted that the jury system of this State, as a system, is as perfect as human ingenuity can devise. It possesses the merit of simplicity to start with. It is simple in its operation, and it is simple in its results. It is simple in its operation, and it is simple in its results. It is simple in its operation, and it is simple in its results.

Drawing Impartial.

It provides a strictly impartial selection for the drawing of jurors, and it is so drawn in the given case under a system which is perfectly fair and impartial. It is so drawn in the given case under a system which is perfectly fair and impartial.

Causes of Bias.

It is in the drawing of jurors that the system has failed. It is in the drawing of jurors that the system has failed. It is in the drawing of jurors that the system has failed.

Beauty

The Charm of a Musical Voice and How to Attain It the most difficult thing in the world to read is expressively. And now I still do all my parts aloud; it helps me to know and love each character, and to help me with my speaking voice, and the speaking part is what I want to enlarge upon.

THE HIGH PITCH

"I think it is a generally understood thing that people of to-day plenty on the tongue." This requires no special practice, simply the mending of a slovenly habit. It is just as unattractive to be slovenly in appearance as it is to be slovenly in appearance.

GOOD FEN

"Then when you have mastered these two great principles, you can

A TALL, strong built man, aged about 40, but looking older by reason of his grizzled hair and we have left our readers that way. People come here, see the excellence of the training we give and often those to buy who are old enough."

"The man appeared to be surprised by the commiseration's attitude. He did not know that civility and kindness were essential there if any employee would retain an excellent post."

He passed on, measuring the small, round court with a backward sweep of the eye. In the small street beyond the arch stood a policeman. The visitor grinned again at the unchangeable and sulky grin, and vanished.

The policeman frowned over.

"What is that chap after?" he inquired.

"Nothing special," was the answer; "last time he was here the place was a mess."

"Unless I am greatly mistaken, he has a ticket in his pocket."

"You don't say? Do you know him?"

"No. I'll look him up in the album in the station when I go off duty."

"Well, he can't do any harm here. O'Brien takes visitors over a regular round, and, in any case, the man seemed to be honest enough in his curiosity."

"You never can tell. They're up to all sorts of dodges."

"Thanks very much. I'll ring for O'Brien's relief and tell him to keep an eye on them, as the old man is blind as a bat."

Meanwhile the stranger was being conducted up a wide staircase by a somewhat tottering guide, who wore on the breast of his uniform the Crimean and Indian Mutiny medals.

As he hobbled in front, he told, with a strong Irish brogue, the familiar story of the Mary Anne House—how it fed, lodged and clothed 400 boys of British parentage born in the Whitechapel district; how it taught them trades and followed their careers with a fostering care; how it never refused a meal or a warm sleeping place to any boy, no matter where he came from or what his nationality, provided he satisfied the superintendent that he was really destitute or needed his small capital for trading purposes next day.

The great central hall where the 600 regular inmates ate their meals, the gymnasium, the playground, the drill shed and gymnasium, the workshop, the library, the theater, were all pointed out, but the big man with the starting crew was not interested one jot in any of these things.

"Who was Mary Anne?" he asked, when the well-worn tale was ended, "and how did she come to build such a fine place here?"

To Be Continued To-morrow.

Obliging Orders!

"Once, sir, I've been a soldier, and even came mighty near being mixed up in a battle, and if it hadn't been for obeying the orders of my old colonel, who had a regular brick, I might be sleeping with my married clank around me now."

"Why, how was that?" asked the latter.

"Well, the enemy were in sight, and I was ready to go for 'em, but I wasn't feeling the least bit comfortable, when all of a sudden I found the old colonel on a stump and

"Now, then, boys, up and at 'em! Strike for home and country!"

"Some of it is a good many, in fact—struck for their country. I struck for home, and precious glad I am I did it!"

MISS DESMOND IN TWO POSES.

By MAUDE MILLER.

Do you know that there is something within the reach of every girl that will make her positively alluring? This may be a rather bold statement of facts, but it is true nevertheless. And it is no difficult task, either, that one can undertake for an experiment, and that will turn out to be something entirely different in the result. It is something that is pleasant to do, actually interesting.

And now you are all attention, aren't you? And you like to know what it is. Well, Miss Mae Desmond says that the secret of charm and beauty lies in the voice. And that it is a very hard matter either, for one to have a beautiful voice, for everyone to have a nice part of it, this work is almost as interesting as the result.

"You see," said Miss Desmond, of the Metropolitan Book Company, in her soft contralto, "playing a stock means a very deep insight into the character of a different people. Each different play means a different character, and I try to know my interpretation of each character with my voice. Long ago, when I was a little girl, I had a desire to know just what could be done with the voice. I used to read aloud by the hour."

"I started up books on elocution and practiced different expressions of love, hate, sorrow, sympathy, satisfaction and the like. And I found that I could do almost anything I liked with my voice. I used to read poetry and grew to love it, but it have harsh, high-pitched voices. There is no necessity at all for this, because a soft, low-pitched voice is the most attractive thing in the world and can be acquired with very little trouble. To find out the trouble with your voice read a few stanzas of poetry out loud. You will very soon discover what is wrong, and then it is a simple matter to correct the fault. It is possible that you may have to pitch your voice lower. This requires practice. A simple tone exercise, running up and down the keys of a piano at the same time, helps a great deal, and remember to draw up your tongue as you do your long breathers when you give breathing exercises.

"Breathing exercises are splendid; take long, deep breaths—twenty or thirty of them at a time—and speak your sentences slowly, with a short interval between each word. This will give you confidence and a fuller voice in a very short time."

"The next thing in importance is pronunciation. An English word is pronounced, pronounce your words right."

begin to shade your voice. This is fun, for the best way to shade is to read poetry or some good stirring prose. Cry out with the wall of the forest, primal, or the accents will and dissonance of the deep voiced neighboring oaks. Or play the passionate lover in 'Come into the Garden, Maud.' Soon you will have a definite, characteristic voice of your own, for your individuality will be in to assert itself.

"I hope I have helped you to understand to some extent what your voice means to me, and what a vocal sound means to everyone," continued the loveliest voice I had ever heard. "I like my voice best of anything about me and I'm sure everyone else does."

"I doubted this very much, for Miss Desmond is lovely enough without the added attraction of her voice, but who could have so lovely a thing as a charming voice within one's reach and not try for it? Particularly when it has been styled by one who knows the most wonderful possession in the world."

"You have that parrot a long time now, Miss Laura, haven't you?" observed Percy. Nickelodeon to the young lady on whom he was making a call.

"Oh, yes, several years," was the response.

"Very intelligent, is he not?" went on Percy.

"Quite," he can imitate almost everything."

"Ah," continued Percy, "they have a remarkably clever bird at the Browne, it can imitate the sound of a train in perfection. Is that among the accomplishments of our feathered friend in the corner?"

"No. It is not," he exclaimed, "the young lady, indignantly. 'Whatever a parrot does is by imitation, and it is not likely that our bird would repeat a sound he is certainly not accustomed to hear.'"

"Then the parrot chimed in."

"No, George, dear! Wait till I have taken this stretched bird out of the room."

Quite a Slip.

Mrs. Jackson never opened her mouth without putting her foot in it. The other day she told her daughter that she intended to go and comfort Mrs. Brown, whose husband had committed suicide by hanging himself in the attic of his house.

"Oh, you know you always say the wrong thing."

"Yes, I must go," answered the mother, "I will tell her that she is the only about the weather, that will be her's subject."

"And this is how her scheme worked out."

"We have had very rainy weather lately," have said Mrs. Jackson, "I shouldn't think you'd have said anything, you have said a fine thing to say."

SLATON CALLED PACIFICATOR BY W. J. HARRIS

Says Georgia House Delegation Favors Congressional Underwood for U. S. Senate.

W. J. Harris, director of the Census, in Atlanta Thursday, sang the praises of Senator Underwood, of John C. Hart and of Governor Slaton of Georgia. Harris has a reputation as a "booster," which may or may not have something to do with it.

In terms of the highest approbation, I wish to speak of the administration of Governor Slaton. He has brought Georgia out of all schools of thought closer together than any other man ever did and has eliminated the bitter feeling which has divided our people of this State into two hostile camps for half a dozen years.

Governor Slaton has entirely fulfilled the forecast I made at Macon last year when I said he would give the people of Georgia a fair and honest administration.

The most important matter the Governor will have to handle is the re-division of the Western and Atlantic Railroad and I know of no one with whom I would rather trust this great problem than Governor Slaton.

"How about Mr. Underwood?" Harris was asked.

"The Georgia delegation, one of the ablest in the House, and for that matter the whole Democratic party in Congress, are almost a unit for Mr. Underwood. As leader of the majority in the House Mr. Underwood has done the whole country an invaluable service and has been a most valuable ally of the administration."

Mr. Harris spoke of many reforms he had made in the Georgia House. He said he had changed it from a "weekly" to a "daily" session, getting out cotton reports at frequent intervals during the cotton season. Next year he is going to take up the question of manufacturing and similar reports. Agriculture will also be featured.

Women Ask Wilson To End Mormonism

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—Legislation prohibiting polygamy and abolishing the Mormon Church in the United States was asked of President Wilson today by the Women's Home Missionary Society, representing 200,000 women of the Methodist Church.

They sent a letter to the chief executive transmitting a resolution offered by Mrs. H. S. Potter, secretary of the Utah conference, and signed unanimously by the convention here.

Pastor Says 'Cut Pay But Out Gamblers'

PACHOINET, N. Y., Oct. 23.—"To take $200 less a year salary if the same result," said the Rev. Luther H. Potter, pastor of the Congregational Church here, in a letter to the board of trustees of the church.

He was informed that three members of the local Business Men's Club had threatened to resign from the church because he accused members of the club of being gamblers.

How I Darkened My Gray Hair

Lady Gives Simple Home Recipe That She Used to Darken Her Gray Hair.

For years I tried to restore my gray hair to its natural color with the prepared dyes and stains, but none of them gave satisfaction, and they were all expensive. I finally ran into a simple recipe which I mixed at home that gave wonderful results. I give the recipe, which is as follows: to a number of my friends, and they are all delighted with it. To 7 oz. of water add a small box of Bage's SAGE TEA. Boil for five or six hours. Strain through a cloth. Add 1 oz. of bay rum and 1-4 oz. of glycerine. Use every other day until the hair becomes the required shade. It is not sticky, it will not only darken the gray hair, but remove dandruff and scalp humors, and acts as a tonic to the hair. It is not sticky or greasy, does not rub off and does not color the scalp. You can prepare it at home at very little expense.

SAGE TEA KEEPS YOUR HAIR DARK

SOCIETY FOLK TO SELL FLOWERS FOR SUFFRAGE

Fifty Pretty Atlanta Girls Will Peddle Chrysanthemums for Votes for Women.

Suppose you were walking down Peachtree street some fine afternoon, and one of Atlanta's most beautiful young society girls were suddenly to step up in front of you and push into your face a great mass of fragrant chrysanthemums, and say "Please, sir, won't you buy a flower?"

What would you do? Well, you may have a chance to do it.

Fifty of the fairest girls of the City, all recent converts to the "votes for women" movement, are going to take one thousand large, beautiful chrysanthemums, sometime within the next month, and stand on the street corners and sell them—all in the name of the cause. They will peddle their flowers for all they can get for them, and will turn the proceeds into the treasury of the Women's Suffrage League, where they will be used to extend the suffrage movement.

The plan was broached at the last meeting of the league, yesterday afternoon by Mrs. Margaret Chambers, one of the prominent workers of the organization. Mrs. Chambers has about one thousand chrysanthemums that she wishes to dispose of. She mentioned the matter at the meeting, and it was at once suggested that the league sell them for the money in the treasury.

Mrs. Pankhurst Defended. A committee composed of Mrs. Harry Smith, Mrs. Chambers, Mrs. Frances Whitehead, Mrs. E. F. Bradley and others, was named by Mrs. Albert Howell, who served as president of the league, yesterday, and arrangements will be made at once to have the flowers here and sell them. A letter will be written to the flower center at Monticello, asking for the best proposition, and as soon as it is received the date for the sale and the details of the plan will be made.

A dramatic defense of Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst at the militant suffragette of England was made at the Wednesday evening meeting of the league, yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Pankhurst, who is the treasurer of the league, who declared that she would willingly give up her life for the cause.

"We in America do not know what we are doing," she said, "but we are ready to fight for our rights if necessary, although I do not believe that women will ever find it necessary to use the methods employed in England. No woman is a real suffragette unless she is willing to give up her life for the cause. I know I would give up my life if I knew the cause."

A paper on "The Women of Tomorrow," a new book by W. L. George, a noted English suffragette, appearing in the paper, yesterday, was read by Mrs. Elizabeth McCarthy, Mrs. Margaret Chambers read a paper on "Christ: A Revolutionary," comparing the struggle of Christ with the struggle of the suffragettes. Miss Aurelia Loomis, who was the president of the league, was unable to attend the meeting.

Mrs. Frances Whitehead, chairman of the executive committee, read the names of twenty new members, among them being Jerome Jones, editor of the Journal of Labor and Georgia's most prominent labor leader.

Mrs. Whitehead submitted her resignation as secretary of the league, and Mrs. Howell, president, will serve this year until the annual meeting in January, and Mrs. Albert Howell will preside over the meetings. Mrs. Chambers was given a ringing vote of thanks as a recognition of her work as secretary.

Duchess Starts on More African Trails

SPECIAL Cable to The Atlanta Georgian. ROME, Oct. 23.—Duchess Helene of Aosta, a princess of Bourbon and of Savoy, started today for her fourth African expedition. She will enter the Dark Continent at Tripoli, and will spend the winter there for five months.

The duchess, who publishes a volume of African travel each week, has been commissioned to collect material for a further volume to be issued in 1914.

Returns to Fight 'Heart Balm' Suit

SAVANNAH, Oct. 23.—Francis S. Green, defendant in the sensational "heart balm" suit of Mrs. Hannah S. Whittier, wealthy banker's wife, was here, has returned to Savannah to file an answer and fight the case in the courts.

Green denies absolutely the charges that he made love and promised to marry the elderly widow and that he obtained possession of the model cottage at Thunderbolt. He claims to have ejected it at his own expense.

COMSTOCK ON TRAIL OF MRS. PANKHURST

Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont, hostess to Mrs. Pankhurst, at left.

Among the 50 letters received by T. C. Pierce in answer to an advertisement in The Georgian for an office boy was one which will be of human interest to every reader of the paper. It tells of a 14-year-old girl, who is earning his living by working as a farm hand near Atlanta, for 41 cents a day and his board, and during the last nine months has saved more than $100.

This boy is anxious to get into an office, where he can learn a business or study some profession, and at the same time educate himself. W. L. Holbrook, of America, who answered the "ad," wrote Mr. Pierce that "a truer, better, smoother, brighter and wittier boy he has never seen."

Here is the letter: "I noticed your ad in The Georgian for an office boy. I am at Rebeca, Georgia, there is a boy 13 years of age, who is unfortunately situated. On account of his father's death, he is in a very poor state of affairs. He has worked on a farm for 41 cents a day and board and has saved more than $100. That tells the story for himself. He asked me only a short while ago to look out for such a place as you have for him. He prefers a lawyer's office, as he is determined to follow that avocation through life. He lives in Atlanta once and is willing to do your work for his board provided he can go to school."

"If you may search the world over and you will not find a truer, better, smoother, brighter and a wittier boy. His habits are unusually good. If you have employed no one yet, he is just the fellow for the job. Address, Bill Ingram, Rebeca, Ga. R. F. 12."

"He is worthy of the assistance of some good people."

"Poor I Have Lived, Poor I Die"—Tellier

SPECIAL Cable to The Atlanta Georgian. PARIS, Oct. 23.—"Poor I have lived, poor I die," murmured Charles Tellier with his expiring breath.

Tellier, 35 years old, inventor of the cold storage system, reigned too late as a great genius in a mean room, where he died after fifteen hours of agony. The janitor's meek wife was his only attendant. He thrust away $200 in cash and scornfully rejected the belated promise of $25,000 from the Manufacturers' Cold Storage Plants, one of the wealthiest corporations.

As a result of the action there was a bigger demand than ever for the paper, to-day, and those who were selling copies could hardly supply the demand.

Mrs. Pankhurst predicted today her intention of keeping up militant methods in England until the fight for woman suffrage is won.

"We are determined to go right ahead with militant methods," said Mrs. Pankhurst. "We will keep driving until we drive the Liberals out and put the Conservatives into power. The Conservatives will begin a campaign of violence—a desperate, violent campaign—and in waging this fight the Conservatives will promise the ballot to women."

"The men had to fight for the ballot, and we will not wait until they have done so. We had to break laws in order to make our voice heard."

Mrs. Pankhurst predicted today her intention of keeping up militant methods in England until the fight for woman suffrage is won.

"We are determined to go right ahead with militant methods," said Mrs. Pankhurst. "We will keep driving until we drive the Liberals out and put the Conservatives into power. The Conservatives will begin a campaign of violence—a desperate, violent campaign—and in waging this fight the Conservatives will promise the ballot to women."

"The men had to fight for the ballot, and we will not wait until they have done so. We had to break laws in order to make our voice heard."

"Poor I have lived, poor I die," murmured Charles Tellier with his expiring breath.

Tellier, 35 years old, inventor of the cold storage system, reigned too late as a great genius in a mean room, where he died after fifteen hours of agony. The janitor's meek wife was his only attendant. He thrust away $200 in cash and scornfully rejected the belated promise of $25,000 from the Manufacturers' Cold Storage Plants, one of the wealthiest corporations.

Trains in 2 Sections To Make Schedules

ASHEVILLE, N. C., Oct. 23.—After November 18 Southern Railway passenger trains Nos. 27 and 28 between Atlanta and New York will permanently run in two sections according to official announcement made here by S. H. Hardwick, passenger traffic manager.

This move is made to maintain schedules.

City Officials Will Hear Special Sermon

Atlanta's public officials will attend the Second Baptist Church Sunday night, where the pastor, Dr. John E. White, will deliver a special sermon in honor of the city.

The service will begin at 7:45 o'clock. An invitation has been extended to the Mayor, heads of city departments and members of City Council and other municipal boards.

This boy is anxious to get into an office, where he can learn a business or study some profession, and at the same time educate himself. W. L. Holbrook, of America, who answered the "ad," wrote Mr. Pierce that "a truer, better, smoother, brighter and wittier boy he has never seen."

Here is the letter: "I noticed your ad in The Georgian for an office boy. I am at Rebeca, Georgia, there is a boy 13 years of age, who is unfortunately situated. On account of his father's death, he is in a very poor state of affairs. He has worked on a farm for 41 cents a day and board and has saved more than $100. That tells the story for himself. He asked me only a short while ago to look out for such a place as you have for him. He prefers a lawyer's office, as he is determined to follow that avocation through life. He lives in Atlanta once and is willing to do your work for his board provided he can go to school."

"If you may search the world over and you will not find a truer, better, smoother, brighter and a wittier boy. His habits are unusually good. If you have employed no one yet, he is just the fellow for the job. Address, Bill Ingram, Rebeca, Ga. R. F. 12."

NOSE AND HEAD STOPPED UP FROM COLD OR CATARRH, OPEN AT ONCE

My Cleansing, Healing Balm In-stantly Clears Nose, Head and Throat—Stops Nasty Catarrh Discharges. Dull Headache Goes.

Try "Ely's Cream Balm." Get a small bottle anyway just to try it—Apply a little in the nostrils and instantly your congested nose and stopped-up air passages of the head will open; you will breathe freely; dullness and headache disappear. By morning the catarrh, cold-in-head or catarrh sore throat will be gone.

End such misery now! Get the small bottle of "Ely's Cream Balm" at any drug store. This sweet, fragrant balm dissolves by the heat of the nostrils; penetrates and breaks the inflamed, swollen membrane; clears the air passages; stops nasty discharges and a lot of other troubles. Nothing but Ely's Cream Balm.

Don't let the swine (to-be) struggle for breath, with head stifled, nostrils closed, yawning and howling. Catarrh or a cold with its running nose, foul mucus dripping into the throat, and raw dryness is distressing, but truly needless. Put your faith just once in "Ely's Cream Balm," and your cold or catarrh will surely disappear.

EXPECT A. B. & C. A. MANAGEMENT SHAKE-UP

President Miller of N. O. & G. N. and Trailroad of Officials Off on Inspection Trip.

Rumors that a shake-up is imminent in the management of the Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic Railroad were freely circulated in Atlanta railroad circles Wednesday morning following the secret departure of a number of the road's officials, headed by Receiver R. T. Lamb and President Miller of the New Orleans and Great Northern Railroad, who also is receiver for the Buffalo and Susquehanna and a prominent Eastern railroad man, on an inspection tour of the property.

Considerable secrecy is said to have surrounded the inspection tour. Mr. Miller, it is said, came quietly into Atlanta late Tuesday afternoon and went on board the train early Wednesday morning. He was joined there by Mr. Lamb and by T. R. Kemp, assistant general manager; B. L. Bugg, assistant general manager; W. C. Colson, general claim agent; and W. W. Colson, general passenger agent. The inspection party will traverse every mile of the road and thoroughly inspect the property, returning to Atlanta Saturday morning at 10:30 p.m.

Runners of Disaffection. Rumors that certain Eastern holders of A. B. & C. A. bonds, including the old Colony Trust Company of New York, which is said to be directly responsible for the present trip, are dissatisfied with certain features of the management of the road, have been given local railroad men in several weeks.

Although officially at home in Washington, Mr. Harris proposes to keep well in touch with affairs in Georgia, and will retain his chairmanship of the State Democratic Committee until the end of his term of service next year. Just after Mr. Harris was named Director of the Census by President Wilson, it was rumored that he might resign to take the place on the Executive Committee, but friends pointed out to him that this was not customary nor advisable, and, largely at their request, he therefore, declined to do so.

Likelihood of Change Denied. President officials of the Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic, who did not make the trip denied Wednesday morning that there is any likelihood of change in the management of the road, and declared that the inspection tour is nothing out of the ordinary. "So far as we know," said Edward B. Block, superintendent of transportation, "the trip the officials of the road are now on is nothing more than the ordinary inspection tour that is made."

By JAMES B. NEVIN

Governor John M. Slaton returned Tuesday from Knoxville, where he was a guest of honor on Monday of the National Conservation Exposition, now being held there.

Monday night the Governor and Mrs. Slaton were entertained with others at dinner by Colonel and Mrs. Robert J. Lowry, of Atlanta. Colonel Lowry has the success of the Knoxville big show very much at heart, and has done a great deal to further its material as well as its sentimental interests.

Governor Slaton speaks in the highest terms of praise of the exposition, "most interesting I ever saw," said the Governor. "It is beautiful and instructive. It displays to great advantage the matchless resources of the South for all purposes. It is not so large as it grows the least bit monstrous in any particular."

"The attendance, too, thus far has been very gratifying, and I have no doubt whatever that the result of the exposition will be abundant, significant and far-reaching."

Colonel Lowry's dinner was of course, in every way a most delightful occasion. He is a most Georgian, and showed no less than at home. The more I see of Georgia—especially including the very creditable county fairs we have in Georgia—the more am I inclined to approve of it. And in this connection I sometimes wonder if the people of Georgia realize fully what a fine exposition they themselves have the year round in the penitentiary and almshouse buildings permanently located on the third floor of the Capitol.

William J. Harris, Director of the Census and chairman of the State Democratic Executive Committee, is spending a few days in Georgia attending to some personal business affairs.

Although officially at home in Washington, Mr. Harris proposes to keep well in touch with affairs in Georgia, and will retain his chairmanship of the State Democratic Committee until the end of his term of service next year. Just after Mr. Harris was named Director of the Census by President Wilson, it was rumored that he might resign to take the place on the Executive Committee, but friends pointed out to him that this was not customary nor advisable, and, largely at their request, he therefore, declined to do so.

Former Railroad Commissioner S. Gert McLeod, of Atlanta, is being generally congratulated upon the successful culmination of his defense of the Georgia Railroad Commission. Editor Thomas E. Watson, indicted recently by a Federal Grand Jury for misfeasance in office, was held in custody at the Atlanta penitentiary, and he had his case assigned to the same.

Colonel McLeod left Atlanta Sunday for Augusta, the scene of the trial, full of confidence and predicting quick and decisive victory. He was fully and completely prepared for the hearing, and he had his case assigned to the same.

REINDICTMENT OF WATSON UNLIKELY TRIES TO FULFILL HIS VOW TO SLAY

Federal Grand Jury at Augusta Said to Have Failed to Find New Bill.

AUGUSTA, Oct. 22.—That the Federal Grand Jury failed to secure a new indictment against Thomas E. Watson, the Thomson editor, on a charge of sending obscene matter through the mails, is the current report here this afternoon. The belief is that the Grand Jury failed to indict Watson on the charge of sending obscene matter through the mails, as it now exists in Georgia. The Governor is one of the most beautiful figures ever, and when once he gets under full steam ahead, it may be permitted to speak after that fashion of a former Chief Magistrate!

If persistent rumor for anything, the question of State-wide prohibition, as it now exists in Georgia, is to be a very live issue in at least two counties of the State when it comes to electing a new Legislature next year.

In Elba County and in Floyd, delegations will be framed up frankly now and anti-State-wide, and if those two counties send local option delegations to the General Assembly, it may be expected that a civil war will flare all down the line, will be inaugurated before the present order of things.

The question of State-wide prohibition never has been submitted directly to the people of Georgia, and there are not very many politicians in the State—save those of extreme type—who will venture to predict what the outcome of such a fight might be.

Certainly it is, if those who talk know where they are going, a sharp battle between those who advocate an absolutely and utterly "dry" state of things, and those who, while not advocating a return to local conditions, still believe there is such a thing as putting the "dip" on altogether too snug for comfort!

And anyway, unless the signs are all at fault, there may be some few legislative miles here and there to fair to middling interesting.

Representative Ed Wohlwend, of Muscogee, is in Atlanta today. Wohlwend, known to Georgians as the "Flying Dutchman," is one of the best liked and most influential members of the Legislature, and holds the record of the present General Assembly for long-distance talking.

Representative Wohlwend can say nothing whatever in more words than any human being under the world's penmanship, but when he does care to say something, he can say it as effectively as the next one, too.

In other words, as a filibuster, Wohlwend is without a peer in the House.

Knowing Your Store Has Much To Do With Successful Shopping

And now that the eager days have come when it seems that everything must be done at once, since the children must have warm clothes for school wear, —and your own new suit just must be selected, —and the hat to go with it, —and these nights are cold, woolly blankets are very necessary things.

—the home must be "dressed up" a bit, too. Indeed it is well to know your store when there is so much to be done.

And the right-thinking woman does not want any of these things done in a make-shift fashion. So the right-thinking woman will do well to depend upon Chamberlin-Johnson-DuBose Company!

Ours is a store where best effort goes into every transaction.

First the merchandise is selected expertly and carefully. Varieties and quantities are meant to give satisfactory choice to all.

They are as great as good taste and worth will permit. Salespeople are anxious to serve, in the full meaning of the word.

Every method and means at our command are being exercised to make all shopping done here successful to you.

There Is a Mink Coat Valued at $2,000 Displayed in the Window

It is a wonderful example of the furrier's art, the skins are perfectly matched. There is a notable set of genuine red fox. A mole coat of rare beauty, a Russian sable set that is a symphony.

These furs are from Revillon Freres who have been the world's greatest furriers since 1723. And now comes a year when furs are in as great demand, we venture, as in any year of this nearly two centuries of furmaking.

The Chamberlin-Johnson-DuBose Co. fur section reflects this tendency! There are coats and sets and separate pieces here in the new fashions, and every piece bears its own name.

We will not allow you to be deceived about any piece of fur we show you.

Suits That Women Seem To Like

After all, that is the whole test! We may tell the many details of our experiences in selecting suits, our care, our eagerness to get the right styles, the makers we go to and all that, but the whole question is summed up in the fact that Women seem to like the suits we are showing.

Some are kind enough to tell us they are the smartest in town, and numbers are proving that they think so by their purchases. The privilege we seek is to show you, not to tell you here what this style is and that fabric is—no word pictures—but the suits as they are, how they look on you, how they fit, how they are fashioned, what the materials and the trimmings.

These are the to be seen to be appreciated things—and these are the days, too.

The "Becomingest" Hats Here in Atlanta Are From Estelle Mershon

If it were necessary to offer any other proof of the fact than that which a trip to the millinery section gives, we would say that the very fact that these hats are fresh from America's style center, which in turn is very, very close nowadays to the world's style center.

Indeed, Estelle Mershon, 20 E. 46th Street, New York, is a Paris shop transplanted.

We receive hats from Estelle Mershon almost daily, to the end that the women of Atlanta may choose from styles that are absolutely authentic, superlatively smart—we say this although usually we are not given to the practice of using "ests" and "mosts" in our advertising. Nothing else will do.

SLATON CALLED PACIFICATOR BY W. J. HARRIS

Says Georgia House Delegation Favors Congressional Underwood for U. S. Senate.

W. J. Harris, Director of the Census, in Atlanta Thursday, sang the praises of Oscar Underwood, of Judge John C. Hart and of Governor Blanton, of course. Harris has a reputation as a "booster," which may mean he has something to do with it.

"In terms of the highest approbation, I wish to speak of the administration of Governor Blanton. He has brought Georgians of all schools of thought closer together than any other man ever did and has diminished the bitter feeling which has divided our people of this State into two hostile camps for half a dozen years."

Governor Blanton has entirely fulfilled the forecast I made at Macon last year when I said he would be Governor of all the people of Georgia, and not Governor of a faction.

"The most important matter, the Governor will have to handle is the re-issuing of the Western and Atlantic Railroad and I know of no one with whom I would rather trust than great public than Governor Blanton."

"How about Mr. Underwood?" Harris was asked.

"The Georgia delegation, one of the ablest in the House, and for that matter the whole Democratic party of Congress, are almost all with Mr. Underwood. As far as I am concerned, I have done all I can to make Mr. Harris speak of many reforms he had made in the Census Bureau. Mr. Harris spoke of many reforms he had made in the Census Bureau. Mr. Harris spoke of many reforms he had made in the Census Bureau."

MEAT CAUSE OF KIDNEY TROUBLE

Take Salts to Flush Kidneys if Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers.

If you must have meat every day, eat it. But flush your kidneys with salts occasionally, says a noted authority who declares that meat forms uric acid which, when it accumulates in the kidneys, causes kidney trouble. The uric acid, which is excreted in the urine, often gets into the blood stream, then you suffer with a dull aching in the back or sick headache, dizziness, nausea, and when the weather is hot, the kidneys are overworked. A HAPPY CHILD IN A FEW HOURS

When Croup, Constipated, Feverish, Give "California Syrup of Figs."

Mothers can rest easy after giving "California Syrup of Figs." In a few hours all the clogged-up bowels, sour bile and fermenting food, gently move out of the bowels, and the child is happy. Children who are constipated will not take the time from play to empty their bowels, and they become irritable, peevish, and when cross, feverish, restless, and when it is coated, then give this delicious "Fruit Laxative." Find Man Overcome By Gas; Accident, His Friends Assert Physicians worked hard Thursday to save the life of John Kerr, aged 60 years, one of the oldest boilermakers at the Southern Railway shops, who was overcome by gas in his room at 47 Henderson avenue. His condition was discovered early Thursday morning when the engaging gas was noted by other people in the house. He is still in an unconscious condition.

The re-anaphylaxis is believed by members of the family of John W. Kerr, with whom he resided, to be an accident and not an attempt at suicide.

John W. Kerr is one of the oldest employees at the Southern shops. He has lived with the Kerr family a long time. He was found by his wife, who was in the room with him, when he was overcome by gas. He is still in an unconscious condition.

PIRATED BIG PLAZA OVER TERMINAL OF V. AND A.

Chamber of Commerce and City Officials to Urge Scheme Before State Commission.

The movement to erect a modern terminal station on the site of the present Union Station and to cover the railroad tracks from Washington street west to Forsyth street with a concrete plaza or platform, at a total cost of between $1,500,000 and $2,000,000, is being actively agitated again following a meeting of members of the Atlanta chamber of commerce in consultation with city officials.

Mayor James G. Woodward, who is heartily in favor of the proposed improvement, will appoint a committee of six members within the next few days, three from the Council and three from the Chamber of Commerce, to appear before the Western and Atlantic Commission of the State Legislature with certain propositions for the outlay of the gigantic sum and the completion of the improvement.

Half a score of plans for financing the project so that no appropriation be asked from the State were offered at a meeting in the Chamber of Commerce rooms Wednesday.

Should Not Hurt Taxpayers. The general opinion seemed to be that even though the improvement would be of inestimable benefit to the State and though the State owns the property, the work should be done without any expense to the taxpayers.

The suggestion that the city obtain the consent of the Legislature and the various railroad companies that would be affected, and then issue bonds for $2,000,000 and start the work, was not popular.

A proposition offered by Mayor Woodward, however, appeared more strongly to the men who attended the meeting and to the committee.

The present plan is to build the terminal station on the site of the present Union Station, and to cover the railroad tracks from Washington street west to Forsyth street with a concrete plaza or platform, at a total cost of between $1,500,000 and $2,000,000.

One Way to Raise Money. This money is applied to the school fund of the State. Mayor Woodward declared that he has authentic information that the leases of the road would be willing to increase the amount of the rental to $15,000 for the period of six years remaining before its expiration, on condition that the State at that time renew the present contract.

This excess rental, Mayor Woodward said, would amount to more than $200,000 in the six years, and would be applied to the improvement of the terminal station.

The proposition will be presented to the W. and A. Commission, and if it is understood they will be asked to agree to the proposition said to have been made by the leases of the road.

It is hardly likely, even should the proposition be accepted, that the Western and Atlantic Commission, which works on the improvement can be begun for several years.

"It means," said the girl calmly,

"Really? Then, you are the happy

"Well, the story begins with the entertaining. I don't see how I know at least one man who dances quite well. The awkwardness of him was quite the result of seeing

Why Not Peg Instead of Punt?

Rules Aid Passes Out of Bounds

By O. B. Keeler.

OF course, American football is not played with the feet. It hasn't been for a long time.

Still, as the earliest young woman in the stand said out at the Tech-Meyer game Saturday:

"They do kick it once in a while, don't they?"

They do, for a fact.

But it looks as if that slender tribute to the game is going to be abandoned before long.

That forward pass thing, which it never has been much of a play in football, might some thinking persons that when the time came to start the ball to the other side of the same time costing the other side all the territory possible, there might be a better way than by kicking the ball.

They might just throw it, like a long forward pass.

This plan is not strongly recommended to teams having a Pat O'Brien or a Hirschberger doing their running.

But there are not many such teams. And, after all, it isn't so much a matter of sheer distance covered in a punt as what happens after the ball is caught.

The average distance of punts beyond the line of scrimmage is only about 45 yards, even among the big colleges. The ball ordinarily is returned about 10 yards. Not infrequently a "safety man" will run the punt back to the scrimmage line, back of which it started. Sometimes he will slip through the broken field for a touchdown.

Now, there is a rule in the football code which everyone expects would be changed this year, but it isn't.

That rule provided that on a forward pass that goes out of bounds before being touched the ball shall go to the opponents AT THE POINT THE BALL LEAVES THE FIELD.

All right.

The side line, one side or the other, never are more than 27 1/2 yards away from a play. Almost always a boundary will be much closer.

There are plenty of college players who can punt a football steadily and accurately 45 yards. A good team star punter can kick the leather in spirals of 50 and 60 yards.

The answer is easy—at least, it looks easy.

PRINCETON used the "long punt out of bounds" with great effect in the East last fall. Texas has a punter who could punt the ball 60 yards with wonderful regularity. In Texas the Mississippi punter lost on the field when Alabama tried to try the exchange of punt for peg against the strong-arm Texas.

And then there's always a chance that the long forward pass may be caught by one of the passer's men with a fine opening for a run to the line of scrimmage.

It seems to be worth thinking about.

STIFF WORKOUT FOR HEISMAN'S SQUAD TO-DAY

Active Preparation for Florida Game Starts This Afternoon, Overconfidence Feared.

HEISMAN'S Yellow Jackets today start their preparation for their game with the Florida eleven from Jacksonville next Saturday afternoon. The boys were given a light drill yesterday, with quite a bit of practice touching the ball and getting down the field under punts. To-day Coach Heisman will start active work to strengthen his line. If the Tech squad hopes to put up a fight against the bigger college line in the season they must have a defensive line that will be able to stop the rushing backfield of their opponents.

Up to date the Yellow Jackets have made a grand showing but they have not been up against a real tough line. Heisman knows this and is trying to get his line into shape by giving them a stiff workout today. All the boys are getting the stiffness out of their limbs from last Saturday's game and they will all be right in a day or two.

Jack "Twin" Sullivan and Gus Curtis will clash in a ten-round go at Ford field late, to-night. The men will weigh in at 144 pounds at 2 p. m. This will give Sullivan an advantage of five pounds.

"Kid" Young is spending much of his time these days training for future prospects. Young expects to get on at Athens, Ga., some time this month and may be matched to box at Jacksonville, Fla.

THE ATLANTA GEORGIAN

Published by THE ATLANTA GEORGIAN COMPANY
 At 50 East Alabama St., Atlanta, Ga.
 Entered as second-class matter at postoffice at Atlanta, under act of March 3, 1879.

The Value of Good Character— An Incident and a Lesson

It Should Avail a Man Much in His Hour of Peril. Governor Slaton Has Turned an Act of Executive Duty to a Commendable Purpose.

The recent commutation of the death sentence of George Oliver, a negro convicted of murder in DeKalb County, is a matter of more than passing importance.

In that commutation Governor Slaton has succeeded in writing a lesson that everybody may profit by considering.

It is a simple, old lesson as old as the hills—but it has not yet been learned by all men!

Oliver, a negro of previous good character, killed, upon the impulse of the moment, another negro. Oliver was not himself at the moment of the crime, but the cold record of the trial made out a case of murder, pure and simple, and the jury found accordingly.

The case was not appealed to the Supreme Court, for there was no apparent error of law therein, but an appeal direct to the Governor for clemency was made.

Presenting the plea were a hundred or so of the white acquaintances—the neighbors—of the negro under sentence of death. The white jury that convicted him asked the Governor's mercy—and every plea was based upon one isolated proposition, PREVIOUS GOOD CHARACTER OF LONG STANDING!

In commuting the death sentence, Governor Slaton said: "The negro is a charge upon the conscience and thought of the Southern white men. Among them he finds his best friends, and all that is demanded of him is good behavior and a recognition of his position. What a dramatic emphasis is placed upon the value of good character by this appeal for clemency by stern, law-enforcing men, whom neither money nor power could influence!"

"They say the defendant was hardworking, law-abiding, peace-loving, obedient, and they pleaded a life of good conduct as against the impulse of a moment that menaces him with the gallows."

"The lesson, if heeded by his color, may produce an infinitely better result than the execution of the stern sentence of the law."

The value of good character!

It should avail a man much in his hour of peril—a negro man not less than a white man.

Capital punishment is abhorrent to many people in any event; it would be doubly abhorrent in a case like that of Oliver!

Governor Slaton has turned an act of executive duty to a commendable purpose!

Alarm Over Our Ship Tariff

If foreign nations do not feel alarmed at the prospective diminution of their shipping in our trade, as a result of the 5 per cent discount of the duty on imports in American vessels, provided in the new tariff, why do they protest so vehemently and threaten reprisals so truculently?

A number of American newspapers have published extensive European cablegrams showing the apprehension caused in foreign shipping circles, on account of the enactment of this provision.

The records of the State Department also show that even before the tariff bill passed the House representatives of foreign governments had filed protests with our Government, alleging that the subsection was against their interests and violative of treaties.

If the 5 per cent discount provision is hurtful to foreign shipping, as a number of foreign newspapers, doubting the reliability of the officers of their governments, so frankly admit, will it not be correspondingly HELPLESS TO AMERICAN SHIPPING?

Based upon our dutiable imports of 1912, a maximum reduction in customs revenue of nearly eleven millions of dollars is possible, if all such imports come here in American vessels or in foreign vessels the goods in which are entitled to the same discount as imports in American vessels enjoy. Is it conceivable, with so large a leverage in favor of ships whose imports are entitled to the minimum duties, and with importers all keen and alert to effect their share of this saving on customs duty, that the favored ships will not enjoy a very substantial advantage in competition with foreign ships whose imports will be subject to the full tariff duties?

These suggestions and queries are offered to those American newspapers that editorially contend that the 5 per cent discount will be of no benefit to American shipping, but whose news columns explain that it will cause great injury to foreign shipping. Either the statements in their news columns are untrue, or else the editorial view of the effect of the discount is erroneous, but if the latter be correct, why, then, all the bitter opposition to the discount?

STARS AND STRIPES

Riot at a Spanish bullfight because the bull was too small. Quite understandable, but the fact that the bull was too small is not the cause of the riot.

West Virginia law, filed by a girl, closes with girl's sister. That boy must have had his mind set on a certain number-in-law.

Wife says she didn't leave her husband but her mother-in-law. Relations "in law" are just as provoking as relations by blood.

Hunter's thin blood has already been shot in mistake for a rabbit, plover and meadow-lark. Hunter's mind seems to take a wander for a human being.

Peopled on, Africa was burning low light to attract our attention.

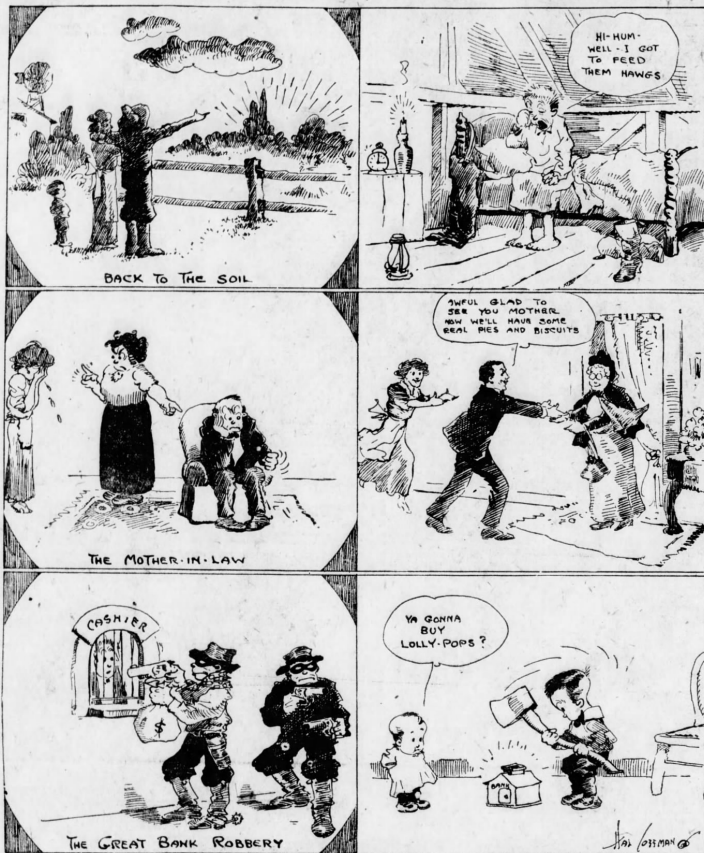

It is a fearful deed of Huerfano to ignore the "U. S. V. P." President Wilson's notes to him.

Zola Prince says American football is too rough for his people. A good elephant hunt now, or some light exercise like that.

Customs men hold up groups because the birds have feathers on them. What do they want—a goose in union underwear?

Spanish fans are paying $100 a seat at a bullfighter's farewell performance. Presumably they'd dig up $100,000 for a grandstand bench at the stockpore.

Dynamite Big Aid in Fertilizing Farms

Europe Is Beginning to Imitate America in This Method of Cultivating Soil and Disclosing Hidden Riches of Earth.

By GARRETT P. SERVISS

THE Swiss farmers have taken a hint from America and are beginning to plow up the soil and stimulate its productivity with dynamite, after the fashion of those whom they still call Yankees.

Old World Just Learning of Dynamite as Aid to Tilling the Soil.

We on this side of the ocean have known for some time that this is an excellent method of breaking up hard soil and making worn-out land astonishingly fertile, and now they are learning the truth in the Old World.

They have set about it very systematically in Switzerland, under the lead of the Federal Department of Agricultural Chemistry, and they have obtained results which fill them with enthusiasm. The cultivation of fruit trees has been their first care, and they are delighted to find that this Yankee notion of shaking the earth awake works like a charm. Trees planted in soil prepared by dynamite explosions grow faster and produce much more fruit than those standing on land cultivated in the old way.

The explanation is plain and easy. The fertility of the soil—which is mostly nothing but disintegrated rock worn and resting upon the hard skull of the earth—depends upon certain chemical elements that nourish the life of plants. Some of these elements are soon exhausted by the plants, where crop rapidly succeeds crop, and thus constant manuring is required to keep the land in a productive state. Another portion of the plant food is washed away by rains or buried deep in the soil, beyond the reach of plows and cultivators.

At a certain depth, below the level ordinarily cultivated, there is often an accumulation of valuable chemical elements that the roots of plants cannot attain.

No Plow Goes Deep Enough to Destroy Rock-Like Layer.

No plow can go so deep, and if it did it could not break up the hard, rock-like layers which are full of unused nourishment. But a dynamite cartridge skillfully exploded two or three feet below the top of the ground causes an instantaneous overturning of the soil and a releasing of its chemical elements.

By planting the cartridges from twelve to twenty feet apart and exploding them simultaneously by electricity a large space of ground may be thoroughly broken up and the soil completely triturated in an instant.

Ground Thus Prepared Possesses Great Deal of Fertility.

Ground that is thus prepared possesses more than ordinary fertility, because not only is a greater depth of soil, filled with nourishing elements, brought into action to feed the plants, but the pulverizing by the explosions of virgin layers that were never before broken up into soil brings a fresh store of plant food into use. Then, too, it has been shown that the greater degree of fineness to which the explosions reduce the particles of matter, since it results in the freeing of chemical elements, even from soil that is regarded as worn out, that the usual methods of cultivation do not reach.

A single dynamite or gunpowder cartridge exploded at a depth of about a yard produces a cone of pulverized earth from thirty-six to forty square feet in area at the surface, and the force of the explosion is so completely used up in the trituration of the soil that there is no serious throwing about of fragments at the top. A young fruit tree planted in one of these cones of triturated earth shows immediately the stimulating effects of the process.

Evidently we have hardly scratched the surface of the old world. It is filled with riches only a few feet down, which only need to be brought to the top in order to increase the capacity of the land for the production of grains and fruits.

Announcement Is Made in Hope of Making Men See Value in the Soil.

I am writing this in the hope that thousands of young Americans who now crowd the cities to overflowing and pass their lives in occupations that add virtually nothing to the wealth and well-being of their country will perceive how interesting and how worthy of their utmost powers and efforts is the life of the modern tiller of the soil, aided by the discoveries that science is continually making for him.

FROM THE HILLS

BY CONSTANCE CLARK.

A TANG of sharpness in the quaking life
 Of sluggish air waves shivering tree on tree,
 The limp blue from where fronded branches drift
 Their green across the sky and then—the sea.

Out of the calm and silence of the hills
 The pine-scented secrets of their mystery
 Unto the wider calm that never stirs
 Unto the wider mystery of the sea.

THE LAW

By ELLA WHEELER WILCOX.
 Copyright, 1912, by American-Journal-Examiner.

THE sun may be clouded, yet ever the sun
 Will sweep on its course till the cycle is run.
 And when into chaos the systems are hurled,
 Again shall the Builder reshape a new world.

You were, and you will be; know this while you are:
 Your spirit has traveled both long and afar.
 It came from the Source, to the Source it returns;
 The spark that was lighted eternally burns.

It slept in the jewel, it leaped in the wave;
 It roamed in the forest, it rose from the grave;
 It took on strange garbs for long eons of years,
 And now in the soul of yourself it appears.

From body to body your spirit speeds on;
 It seeks a new form when the old one is gone;
 And all that you ask for, and all you desire,
 On the loom of the mind, with the fiber of thought.

As dew is drawn upward in rain to descend,
 Your thoughts drift away and in destiny bend.
 You can not escape them; or petty, or great,
 Or evil, or noble, they fashion your fate.

Somewhere on some planet, sometime and somehow,
 Your life will reflect all those of your now.
 The law is unerring; no blood can atone;
 The structure you rear you must live in alone.

From cycle to cycle, through time and through space,
 Your lives with your longings will ever keep pace,
 And all that you ask for, and all you desire,
 Must come at your bidding, as flames out of fire.

You are your own deity, you are your own god,
 You fashioned the paths that your footsteps have trod.
 And no one can save you from error or sin
 Until you shall hark to the spirit within.

Once list to that voice and all tumult is done;
 Your life is the life of the Infinite One;
 In the hurrying race you are conscious of pause,
 With love for the Purpose, and love for the Cause.

Cosmic Consciousness

By EDGAR LUCIEN LARKIN.

FOUR requests in one day that I write a note on this fascinating subject is the cause of this writing. This term has been appearing in many books, pamphlets and magazine articles during, say, ten years. It was a kind of revival, this re-awakening. And my letters, received from many remote parts of the world, also began to contain the two mystic words.

Very Ancient Thought.

Cosmic is English for the Greek word Kosmos, meaning the universe. But the Greek philosophers, not knowing a single law of nature—the stupendous discovery of the law of gravitation and of how to differentiate and integrate had not been announced by any Greek philosopher—looked upon the grand cosmic order of nature in another light—not mathematical.

This was the base of their harmonies. They made great use of this idea, even while ignorant of infinitesimal rates and the supremely all-absorbing and fascinating wonders of the modern scientific world—namely, the consecutive state. They philosophized as best they could without this rock-new base of all modern sciences.

Now among the hundreds of writers using the term "cosmic consciousness" are aware that they are merely rehashing a very ancient Aryan pre-Hindu thought. I have often read articles—no, not read; glimpsed every fifth, eighth or tenth word in extreme haste, to save time—written by happy folk laboring under the exceedingly common hallucination that they were giving to a waiting world something new.

Wonders Were Known.

This is a glaring delusion. Not one thing new has originated in the brain of man under the static time "philosophy" within the last 2,500 years. We have not even touched the hem of the garment of the stupendous Vedas and Samkhya, to say nothing of adding to these immense systems.

How often have I mentioned these two systems in this column! Ten years ago, I published a sequel to the Vedas, Samkhya and the Vedas themselves. The very ancient pre-Hindu philosophers, the real mentalists of the ancient Asiatic world, wielded away more than 1,000 years, maybe 5,000, along the banks of the Ganges, Jamuna and Indus, in supernatural heights of abstract thought. None since has been able to add to the height of refined meditation. They range all changes on mind.

A number of the old writers using the vast words, "cosmic consciousness," seem not to be aware that clairvoyance, clairaudience, clairtendency, telepathy, hypnotism, mesmerism, control at a distance, mental projection, thought selection, mental space waves, healing, destroying, mind-reading, psychometry, tele-secure meditation, subconscious mind, subliminal consciousness, transmuting, visions, trances, brought on others at a distance, automatic writing of entire books, simulating death, being buried alive, only to be restored to these three.

And when paralytics were cured they thought that some external power wrought the change. In the Buried Temples. Everything known in these airy subjects was known in the temples from Elion and Epherphatia, in remote India, western India, in the sacred temples and shrines of all Mesopotamia, and especially in the buried temples now under the alluvium of the Tigris and Euphrates in eastern Arabia, in the holy places of Jerusalem, Tiberias, Memphis, Dang, Arcton, Mithraea and within the corridors of the mighty labyrinth of Alexandria, Lemnos and Crete. Of all Mesopotamia, and especially of the buried temples, the hierophants, so it now seems to us, appeared to be aware of the writers in the "West" are just going to hear of the new life to the world.

SAVANNAH, Oct. 23.—An injunction of importance to shipping at Jacksonville and Savannah was taken under advisement by Superior Judge Charlton to-day against the Merchants and Miners Transportation Company.

The suit grows out of a long struggle with the city about docking facilities and it has been once threatened to bar the transportation company entirely.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—"Hush," disguised by different names, exists in every country, says Mrs. Mary Louise Barroll, wife of Commander Henry H. Barroll, U. S. N., who has written an around-the-world cookbook.

Sometimes it is a stew; in South America it is puchero; in China it is chi-lo; in Mexico it is chile con carne; and in France it is ragout.

TONSILITIS MAKES CHILDREN STUPID

Health Board Issues Bulletin Urging Parents to Take Precaution. Operations Recommended.

If one of your children is backward in its studies or sickly looking, get a physician to look at its tonsils at once, is the advice given by the Georgia State Board of Health in a bulletin issued Thursday. The whole trouble may be there. A

Operations in nearly all cases are performed under general anesthesia, so that the patient may be unconscious to operate may leave an otherwise normal child stupid and sickly for some time.

Injustice to Sufferer.

Many children are first taken down as lazy and "good-for-nothing" and are then taken down at home and at school, where they are made to feel that they are being punished. There has been nothing but harm done.

Children who have been suffering long times have been considered half-witted and have been treated as such. This expression, which often results in the child's being taken down at throat and nose—their whose life marred for life.

Operation.

The child who fails to inspire the confidence of his parents and who suffers from such symptoms and to have the child taken down at throat and nose is almost criminal.

Contagious Disease.

The second most important thing for the parent to know is that the child taken down is the fact that acute tonsillitis is contagious. It is very important to know that it should be isolated and treated as such. It is very important to know that it should be isolated and treated as such.

Justify an Operation. It is in chronic tonsillitis that the child is taken down frequently that operations are justified.

In addition to the acute and chronic tonsillitis, there is a third type of tonsillitis, which is called "chronic tonsillitis."
